An Age of Opportunity

Occasionally young people of today are heard deplored what they are pleased to term the fact that in their time there are no great opportunities available for amassing great wealth, or of making a big place for themselves in the world, as was the case fifty, seventy-five or even one hundred years ago. They hold the view that conditions which made it possible for a Rockefeller, a Vanderbilt, an Astor in the United States, or a Massey or Timothy Eaton in Canada to lay the foundations of great businesses and accumulate fortunes for themselves and families no longer exist, and that they must perforce remain the servants and employees of others.

These are mere excuses to cover up their own deficiencies, lack of initiative and energy. Those who make such excuses are invariably of the type who are quite unwilling to endure the hardships and perform the long and arduous work which was inseparable from the early years of the men of a few generations ago who laid the foundation for the great successes of which these youthful pessimists of today are envious.

The truth is that in no previous era in the world's history were there as many and as promising opportunities for young men and women as are presented to them today. The trouble is that, too often, the youth of today wants the pleasures and luxuries of success without being willing to first undergo the sacrifices and self-denials through which success can be won. They are impatient of the day of small things, of the slow but gradual building up process. They demand the impossible,—immediate success without effort and arduous labor.

For the earnest, painstaking worker, possessed of initiative and courage, the present is indeed an age of golden opportunities. Present day business rarely teems with examples of astounding successes achieved within the short span of a few years, but such instances are not lacking. It is only within five years since the now well known Gillette Safety Razor Company, founded with the insignificant capital of thirty dollars. Today its paid-up capital stock has a market value of two hundred million dollars. The 51 razors sold in 1903 have grown to a total of 14,562,098 in 1925, while the sale of a mere 14 packets of blades in 1903 increased to 52,983,539 packets in 1925. The Company has paid cash dividends aggregating $34,497,691. What a romance in business in this present century!

The automobile within the same space of time has revolutionized our modes of living, has created scores of multi-millionaires and made Henry Ford the world's wealthiest individual. Within the last half dozen years the radio has come into practical use opening new fields of employment and advancement and wealth for hundreds and thousands of wide-awake enterprising men.

How can anyone think, much less declare, that the day of great opportunities is past and gone? Great as have been the discoveries and developments of the past, the present is even more prolific and promising; the opportunities are vastly greater. The youth of today is, let it be emphasized, living in a golden age of opportunity with possibilities open to him unsurpassed, unprecedented, of a couple of generations ago.

Not only so, but the world today is not so skeptical of new ideas and inventions, and the man with an innovation gets a hearing and a chance to demonstrate his plans, where in former years he had to do battle against prejudices and an ultra-conservatism which found expression in open and bitter opposition.

Where not so long ago a young man without position or money had a long, bitter, uphill fight to obtain recognition, today he is given every chance to make good, and if he fails the fault lies largely with himself, or the impracticality of his ideas, and not in the reception accorded him by an eager and progressive world. He is not denied his opportunity to make good; the great difficulty is that so many do not see, or seeing, fail to grasp the opportunity at their hand.

There are still undeveloped fields of endeavor awaiting ambitious youth just as great with promise as were the unknown spaces of the United States in the first half of the nineteenth century, or in Canada in the years when the Fathers of Confederation dreamed their practical dream of a Dominion stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the pioneers first began the task of developing the prairies of the West.

Clark made the descent of several thousand feet with an automatic motion-picture camera strapped to his chest. The first hundred feet of the jump consisted of a series of irregular somersaults, but the latter part of it was regulated to be as rapid and more even.

Students Discard Robes

No longer do the students in the prominent school of Egypt all wear the traditional sheik's robes. After a small but significant civil war, they discarded the flowing robes for the modern dress. The minister of education favored the robes and threatened a lockout of students but the students entered class rooms by wearing robes over their modern suits and discarding them while remaining in school.

THE TIRED OUT WOMAN

Needs the Help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Regain Strength

No mother should allow nervous weakness to get the upper hand of her; if she does worry will mar her health and torment her body. The nervous woman is a curse to the average housewife's daily till is enough to cause depression, but there are other causes, as every mother knows that tends to wear and tear her nerves run-down. A change and rest might improve her health, but best of all for jaded women is a course with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new strength, rich with all elements on which the body and nerves thrive.

The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will speak for itself. The system run-down is shown by the experiences of Mrs. C. W. Jackson, R.R. 1, Gifford, Ont., who had been suffering from the effects of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I could hardly walk across the floor. As the mother of young children and with the usual household duties to perform, my condition was one of seriousness. I had seen Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and decided to try them. This had a wonderful effect on me. I began taking the pills very long before I began to feel better both in the body and mind. I continued the use of the pills a course of months and now feel like all my household duties. I would not be without the pills in the house and I recommend them to all run-down mothers.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Germans Install New System

Trains Now Equipped With Wireless Telegraphy for Passengers

As a result of six years of experience a new German system of wireless telegraphy is now installed in the trains on the Hamburg-Berlin line.

Passengers while travelling are able to call up subscribers at any of the exchanges, and can themselves be called up.

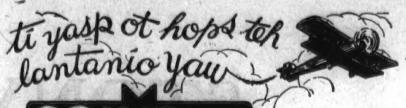

This innovation is to be introduced on all the main sections of the government railways. Passengers will also be able to communicate from one train to another.

Films Depicting Canadian Scenes Are Used To Good Advantage In Advertising This Country Abroad

Not the least important function of the Canadian Government has been to correct, both at home and abroad, the erroneous impressions gained and sometimes spread by poets, novelists, disengaged immigrants and transient mechanics. Even today there are people who can disbelieve Canada from the Royal North West Mounted Police, polar bears, grizzly gold rushes, thriving fur-traders and the rest of the inaccurate pictures so frequently drawn by those who know and care nothing about the Dominion.

In 1917 the Canadian Government realized the instructive value of the cinematograph camera and decided to go into the motion picture business. There then came into being as a branch of the Trade and Commerce Department, the official Motion Picture Bureau, which has since rendered good service by depicting to the world, more clearly than in words, the wealth, opportunity and scenic beauty presented to the intending immigrant. Like the prophet of old the work of the bureau is less known and appreciated in Canada possibly than any one of a score of countries.

On the principle that people do not appreciate fully that which is given them free of charge, the bureau has conducted its campaign abroad in direct competition with the commercial cinematograph film, and has done so with great success. Canadian films have been shown in foreign exhibitors on their own merit; in Great Britain particularly there is a steady demand for them. Not only have they attracted immigrants, but in several instances they have attracted valuable trade.

For instance a film on road-making in Canada was being shown some years ago in South Africa when a member of the audience was so impressed by the efficiency of Canadian road-making machinery that he asked the Bureau to put him in touch with the makers, and a substantial order followed.

Practically all the departments of the Dominion Government in Ottawa have at one time or another availed themselves of the bureau, on which increasingly heavy calls are being made.

The tremendous value of the film as a medium of national propaganda is being realized by other nations of the world, who are following Canada's example. At the present time 16 nations, headed by Great Britain, are trying to break the dominion of the film-world held by the United States, and the matter is of such importance as to merit discussion at the Imperial conference in London. Perhaps Imperial action will be taken on a lead set by Canada nearly a decade ago.

Studies Age Of Fish

Major Fowler Says Some Live More Than Fifty Years

How long do fish live? Major F. S. Fowler, in a lecture before the London Zoological Society, gave some interesting data on a special study he had conducted on this subject.

An electric eel in the London Zoo, it was reported, lived twelve years. A European catfish in the private aquarium of the Duke of Bedford is 50 years old and shows little indication of weakness.

Other fish age figures given by the Major were: Carp, 13 years; goldfish, 12 years; herring, 14 years; salmon, 8 years; bull trout, 14 years; tree frog, 14 years; female Spanish newt, 18 years, and giant salamander, 52 years.

Canadian Potato Crop

The Canadian potato crop is still estimated to be 43,120,000 cwt., compared with 42,379,900 in 1925. This is made up with Prince Edward Island 3,405,000 cwt., Nova Scotia 2,833,000, New Brunswick 4,821,000 Quebec 15,769,000, Ontario 8,916,000, Manitoba 2,848,000, Saskatchewan 3,915,000, Alberta 2,754,000 and British Columbia 1,853,000.

"Retiring Sergeant—Where is your birthday?"

Applause for Enlistment—"What's the difference? You ain't going to give me anything!"—Jughead.

Creates Demand For Goods

Advertising is Only Way to Keep People Interested

The finest goods in the world if merely placed on the merchant's shelves will stay there and gather dust. If, however, the buying public is informed that they are on the shelves then the buying public will see that it is they are removed. The only way the buying public can be informed that these finest goods in the world are open to its demand is by advertising. It is the best and the most direct avenue of communication between the retailer and the consumer. It provides the former with a means of assuring himself of the necessary "turn over." It directs the latter in his search for that which he needs. Further, it is a means of introducing to both necessities and luxuries and through that introduction, creates a demand. In the words of President Coolidge, advertising "ministers to the true development of trade."

This is recognized as a fact by American business is proved by the vast increase in the amount of space used by advertisers. The art of the advertising expert supplements the ingenuity of the manufacturer and the enterprise of the merchant until the advertising columns of the leading newspapers have become a field of educative information in which many persons browse with as much interest as they give to other columns.

Played The Game

Small Girl Would Not Cheat To Win Coveted Prize

An odd little story is making the rounds of Canadian papers. It tells of a wee girl in the first grade who, with a pencil and ruler, constructed a few steps for the school fair. Also, there came an anger and a clipping after a day or so before the exhibit was to be made and the flowers were blighted.

Realizing the keen disappointment to the little girl her aunt suggested that a few asters from her own stock should be added to the somewhat wild flowers which the child was bravely carrying away as part of her work for the fair. "But that wouldn't be playing fair," responded the child and went off with her own flowers conscious that she had lost the coveted prize before she reached the long-anticipated show.

This is one of those stories told to point a moral and adorn a tale, and that will be appreciated by those who have to do with fairs, and exhibitions and shows, big and little, the world over.

Guarantees His Houses

Canadian Architect Invents New System for Concrete Buildings

The city council of Norwich, England, has ordered 200 houses, to be built of concrete under a new system, on a remarkable guarantee from the inventor, D. G. Underdown, a Canadian architect.

Mr. Underdown guaranteed:

To lift a house built on his system two feet and drop it to the ground without a crack.

To turn it over on its side and replace it without a crack.

To hit an iron nail in bodily any reasonable distance after thirty days.

Mr. Underdown's houses are built of ingeniously shaped blocks. Two sixteen motor lorries harnessed to a pair of these blocks were unable to draw them apart.

Alberta Homesteads

Nearly 200,000 acres of homestead land have been taken up by new settlers in the Dominion land areas covered by the Edmonton Agency in the nine months of the present year. The total filings, according to the Provincial Commissioner of Alberta, were 1,240 including soldiers' grants, as compared with 741 filings for the same period of the previous year.

Records taken over 26 years show that the greatest number of fatal influenza cases occur about the ninth or tenth week of the year, and the fewest about the thirty-fifth or thirty-sixth week.

Alberta Has Bumper Crop

Second Largest Crop in History of the Province

Final compilations are expected to show that the average yield of wheat throughout the Province of Alberta this year will be 19 bushels per acre on 6,275,000 acres, giving a total yield of 119,225,000 bushels. This is the second largest crop of wheat in the history of the province. The largest crop was 144,000,000 bushels in 1923.

The wheat yield this year in the three Prairie Provinces is now expected to reach about 380,000,000 bushels. Manitoba estimates a crop of 45,000,000 bushels and Saskatchewan 182,000,000 to 235,000,000 bushels. Last year the value of the Western wheat crop was $22,529,000 from 282,302,000 bushels.

The value has yet to be computed, but will be taken sharply in the past few weeks by 12,000 men until it has recently reached around $145 at Winnipeg, the prospects for financial reward appear excellent. The return from the wheat crop in the Prairie Provinces in recent years has been as follows: 1912, $29,158,000; 1913, $28,202,000; 1925, $42,529,000.

Saskatchewan Dairy Output

Estimated Output for This Year Placed At 18,000,000 Bushels

So famous has the Province of Saskatchewan become as a great grain growing province that its importance as a dairying country is apt to be lost sight of. A statement recently issued by the Dairy Commissioner of the Provincial Department gives some indication of how rapidly dairy production is growing. The statement reads: "Creamery butter production in Saskatchewan in August of this year amounted to 2,267,332 pounds, bringing the total production for the eight months' period, January 1 to August 31, to 13,452,008 pounds, an increase of 1,537,416 pounds or 16 per cent, compared with the record for the corresponding period of 1925. It is estimated that the output of this year will reach 18,000,000 bushels, or the corresponding period of 1925.

British Boy Immigrants

An annual grant equivalent to the grant given by the Dominion Government has been given to the British Immigration and Colonization Association by the Overseas Settlement Committee, a recent cable advised. This is expected to considerably expand the Association's work of settling British boys between the ages of 14 and 18 on Canadian farms. Since the society received its charter four years ago about 500 boys per year have been so moved and settled.

Bones of Birds Are Hollow

Makes Them Lighter and Stronger Against Strain

The bones of flying birds are said to be hollow and filled with air, thus showing that nature knew what it was about when it designed them for the air. This plan, as any physicist will confirm, makes for not only lightness, but for the greatest strength. A solid bone besides being heavier, would be less strong against strain such as a flying fowl is put to.

Zam-Buk

SAVES POISONED LIMBS!

It was just a bad ankle that might have been fatal. But it seemed now like quickly blood would develop unless broken bones have the protection of antiseptic Zam-Buk.

Mrs. Hamilton, Place-de-Armes, Kingston, Ont., writes: "During household duties my left ankle was injured by a sharp projection. Stocking dye got into my wound and I thought I was alarmed. My ankle took a turn for the better, almost as soon as I began with Zam-Buk. That powerful healer dispelled all pain, stopping the inflammation. It healed perfectly."

Use Zam-Buk also for eczema, rashes, piles, boils, abscesses, cuts, burns, scalds etc.

Nation-Wide Fame. — There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil have not been tried and proved. It is the best weapon against rheumatic remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Advice For Young Mothers

—The Shaw Studio

Hamilton, Ont.—"Before the arrival of my little boy my health was very poor, my back hurt and my nerves were so weak I could not sleep. I grew very weak and miserable and suffered from morning sickness. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in the drug store. I took it so I could sleep to try it, and it did me a world of good. It relieved me of all distress in my back, built me up in strength and my nerves were greatly improved. No trouble. I got along fine the remainder of the time and I had a very strong, healthy baby." In addition to a wonderfully strong and strong, it relieves her of a certain number of symptoms which most women suffer during motherhood?"—Mrs. Joseph Curtis, 147 Bay St., North (Picture above).

Family Life On The Amazon

Returned Explorer Gives Many Interesting Facts About Natives

Dr. William McGovern, the explorer and anthropologist, who recently returned to London after spending a year on the Amazon searching for hitherto undiscovered tribes, came across natives who had only heard of white men. Some were civilized tribes with culture, and had a political and religious organization of their own. Others were so wild and primitive that they had no houses, could not even swim, dug up roots for their nourishment and only slept on the ground higher than the animals. In their use of fire, Dr. McGovern says some of the natives he visited think nothing of living 200 or 300 in one huge room. The centre of the room is used as a sort of common drawing-room, and the various families live on "allotments" all round, the family abode being big enough to contain a central fire and the necessary number of hammocks to sleep in. The staple food of the natives is the mandioca—a sort of poisonous potato from which the poison is extracted by a complicated process of evaporation.

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. William McGovern's advice useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles and a sore or a contusion or sprain or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

JOSHUA RENEWING THE COVENANT

Golden Text: Choose ye this day whom ye will serve; . . . but as for me and my house we will serve Jehovah—Joshua 24:15.

Lesson: Joshua 24:14-25.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 107:1-9.

Explanations And Comments

1. Joshua Reminds the People of God's Help Through Their History. Dr. Wm. Palmer, Tomahawk, Alta., writes: "I am sending a copy of the people at Shechem, sending a special summons to everyone in authority, the elders, the heads of Israel, the judges, and the officers. He began, 'I call all the assembly before God to witness to your hearts with a recital of God's care and help from the time of Abram to that present moment, when you have been a people of God, on which they have not labored, of cities which they had not built, and vineyards and oliveyards which they had not planted. He told all the people to speak openly to Jehovah himself, thus stressing the fact that he and they were simply instruments of the divine will.' I give . . . I sent . . . I played . . . I brought . . . I gave . . . I destroyed . . . I delivered . . . I sent": these recurring pronouns have been likened to the blows of aaleded hand, which fall into the people's hearts. It was history seen by the eye of faith.

"That men would praise Jehovah for his loving kindness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!"—(Psalm 107:1-9).

Became So Weak, Could Hardly Stand

Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Tomahawk, Alta., writes: "Last spring I had a long spell of sickness and became so weak I could hardly stand. I could not sleep at night as the least little noise would wake me up. I tried blood tonics and other nerve pills, but they did no good, and I was getting worse.

I wrote my mother about my condition, and she sent me three boxes of

After the first box I was feeling much better, so I sent the second and now I feel as well as ever I did when I was a young girl."

Manitoba Tourist Trade

Winnipeg Tourist and Convention Bureau Has an Active Season

The Winnipeg Tourist and Convention Bureau registered a number equal to 58 per cent of all the motor cars that crossed the whole of the Manitoba border from the United States, and remained for more than twenty-four hours, up to October 1st, 1926. This includes Emerson, Gretna, Killarney, Cartwright, Crystal City, Melita, Snowflake, Bannerman, Piney, Waskada, Haskett and all parts of entry. 105,710 people came across the border of Manitoba from the United States and 55,012 of them stayed less than a day, while 30,698 came in for a period ranging from two up to thirty days.

A day's stay would mean over $2,000,000.00 left in our country based on an expenditure of $18.75 per capita per day. A two day's stay would mean an expenditure of more than $4,000,000.00, while the usual average of 3½ days, which is accepted by all members of the I.A.C.B. as being correct, would mean a gross expenditure of over $7,000,000.00 in Manitoba during the past season.

For the year 1926 seventy-four conventions were held in Winnipeg with an attendance of 23,500. The feature of the 1927 season, in which sixty conventions have already been booked, will be the side-trip of the Minnesota State Elks Association, who will visit Winnipeg for two days, the third week in June, 1927. Indications point to 1928 being a banner year for conventions.

The Norse Association of Canada, seven thousand strong and the Norwegian Singers of America, one thousand strong, already have selected Winnipeg as well as numerous others, ranging in attendance from 200 to 3,000. Winnipeg has also secured the D.O.K.K. Convention for 1929, attendance 25,000.

Empire Leaves Members Free

Reason British Commonwealth Gets Along Without Any Friction

The paradox of the British Commonwealth is that it can only cohere by being incoherent. It will hang together or while its members are free. To attempt to tie them to each other by legal bonds would dissolve the whole structure.

We live together as a system of free peoples, sprung from one root, speaking one language, recognizing one sovereignty, but at liberty to go our separate ways if we choose.

Within the limits of that necessarily there is abundant room for common effort and mutual helpfulness. We can meet and discuss, as members of one family, to clear the channels of trade and improve the Imperial lines of communication.

Also we can keep the air sweet and clean, provide medical and atmospheric friendly. If the spirit is right, we need not fear that anything will go wrong with the works.—From John Bull, London.

PARLIAMENT TO ASSEMBLE ON DECEMBER NINTH

Ottawa.—Parliament will be opened on December 9, Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Prime Minister, announced at the conclusion of a meeting of the cabinet. After the formal opening, the Commons will proceed to the election of a speaker on Friday, December 10. There will be an adjournment until Monday, December 12.

"The Government hopes," said Mr. Robb, "that with the cooperation of the official opposition, the speech from the throne can be disposed of in one day. Then the estimates and supplementary estimates will be taken up just as they were left last year."

Mr. Robb expressed the hope that considerable business could be accomplished before the Christmas adjournment. After the adjournment, it is unlikely that Parliament will reassemble before the end of January.

Premier King and Hon. Ernest Lapointe sail from England on December 1 and will be present for the opening. As the part of the session which comes before Christmas will be largely taken up with the speech from the throne and the estimates, the actual details of the sessional legislative program will not be dealt with by the cabinet while the Prime Minister and the Minister of Justice are absent. It is understood, however, that Mr. King and Mr. Lapointe have been in close touch with Ottawa by cable from day to day and are fully informed regarding the work of the cabinet.

From Government House comes the announcement that the state dinner and reception which traditionally accompanies the opening of Parliament ceremonies will be held on the evening of Friday, December 10. Owing to the early part of the session being of such short duration, Their Excellencies, the Governor-General and Viscountess Willingdon will hold the Drawing Room early in January.

Appointment Is Confirmed

Hon. Vincent Massey is officially appointed Member to Washington.

Ottawa.—Hon. Vincent Massey was appointed Canadian minister to Washington by an order-in-council passed by the cabinet. The announcement was made by Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Prime Minister, to a group of newspapermen. Mr. Massey is in England at the present time with Premier King attending the Imperial Conference in an unofficial capacity.

These youths eke out an existence by feeding from garbage cans and by sleeping under wagons and in the streets, according to Mr. Patterson.

More Mennonite Settlers For Canada

Thousands Coming From Southern Russia Says Bishop Toews

Winnipeg—Canada is being seen more than ever as a land of opportunity by the Mennonites, and before the end of the present year nearly 7,000 new settlers from Southern Russia will have made their homes in the Dominion, according to Bishop Toews, president of the Mennonite Colonization Board.

To date 3,500 Mennonites have settled in Canada, and are well established and happy in their adopted country, Bishop Toews said.

The movement of Mennonite settlers to Canada in 1927 will exceed even that of the present year, he added, although definite arrangements have not yet been made. Those who come this year will suffer no inconvenience in the matter of getting settled. They will spend the winter with their countrymen in their settlements, and in the spring will get lands for themselves.

Bishop Toews intimated the Mennonites saw no attraction in Mexico now.

New Polar Expedition

Dr. Nansen Contemplates Voyage of Discovery by Airplane

Berlin.—Plans for a new polar expedition by airship on strictly scientific lines were set forth by Dr. Fridjof Nansen, president of the International Society for the Exploration of Arctic Regions, at the opening of that international congress of that kind.

The route contemplates flights with numerous stops, from Nome, Alaska, by way of the North Pole to Murmansk, Russia or in the opposite direction. The airship will be manned by a crew of 50, the men to work in three shifts.

Dr. Nansen declares that the flights of Byrd and Amundsen over the North Pole were great pioneer deeds, but, from the viewpoint of Arctic exploration, merely preliminary to detailed scientific investigations, necessitating numerous landings, each lasting for hours.

REUNION DINNER OF CANADIANS IS HELD IN LONDON

London.—Premier Mackenzie King attended the reunion dinner held by ex-members of the Canadian expedition forces now resident in London. Owing to a previous engagement, however, the Prime Minister was unable to stay throughout the evening.

The dinner, which is held annually on or about Armistice night, was presided over by Major-General Garnet Hughes. Among those attending were Viscount Byng of Vimy, Major-General J. H. Macbride, chief of the Canadian staff; General Sir George Strickland, chief of the Imperial general staff; General Sir Ian Hamilton and Sir James Craig, commander-in-chief.

Viscount Byng was accorded a cordial reception when he rose to speak.

"I have spent five years of wonderful experience and happiness in the Dominion," the viscount said. "I have always preached the same doctrine and I preach it to you as one who has a passionate affection for you and your comrades. I have preached the word 'unity'."

"On the ninth of April, 1917, I saw Canadian unity. I saw men from those fine old battalions of British Columbia shaking hands with men from those fine old battalions of Nova Scotia on top of Vimy Ridge, unconquered and unconquerable, telling each other that every man was as good as another. That ideal of our corps was a fine word worth cherishing."

Viscount Byng concluded with a plea for the settling aside of personal ambition and individualism and "working for the same big purpose as you worked with men in those years."

Calgary Ranchers Buy Fifteen Head Owned by Prince of Wales

Calgary.—Fifteen head of shorthorn stock owned by the Prince of Wales at his ranch near High River, Alberta, have been purchased by Sheldon and Charles K. McLean, owners of the Kirkland farm, one of the show ranches of California. This announcement was made by Prof. W. L. Carlyle, manager of the Prince's ranch.

Before deciding on the cattle at the ranch of the Prince of Wales, buyers for the big California ranch visited many herds in the United States. The shipment consists of nine cows, and heifers and six yearling bulls, one being a champion at Western fairs this summer.

Fewer Deaths From Tuberculosis

Ottawa—Canada has reduced its tuberculosis deaths since 1900 from 180 per 100,000 population to less than 80 per 100,000. This shows a reduction of more than 100 deaths per 100,000 people per year accomplished in the last 25 years, or a saving of one death from the disease annually in every 1,000 people or 9,352 lives per year.

People Living Longer Because Statistical Information Is Available

Ottawa—Canada is fighting disease with figures. Experts say they are winning, that the death rate among infants from cancer and tuberculosis is below gradually reduced. The Dominion now has a uniform system of vital statistics.

Until quite recently each province had a different system. New Brunswick had no system at all and no vital statistics were compiled except by the cities of St. John, Moncton and Fredericton. In Quebec the records were kept by the churches. Roman Catholic and Protestant. This had been the method for 300 years, and the civil authorities were loath to meddle. Quebec has now joined the other provinces, and will have the best statistics in Canada.

People are living longer because statistical information is available, which shows the doctors precisely what they have to combat. Mr. Coates, Dominion statistician, assisted in this department by E. S. MacEachern, superintendent of vital statistics, and W. H. ### Wants to Share With Britain

London.—It is reported here that Italy had demanded a share in the Russian oil monopoly sought by British finance in return for a loan to the Soviet government. Italy proposes to share in the loan and also in the reciprocal benefits obtained from Russia, or else issue an additional loan and take the monopoly on Russian oil sales to the world trade outside the British empire.

Alberta Seed Survey

Will Ascertain Amount of Damage to Seed Caused by Wet Weather

Calgary.—Survey of the entire province has been undertaken by the Division of seed branch to ascertain the amount of damage the wet weather has suffered and the quantity of seed available for spring sowing, according to G. M. Stewart, district inspector. A preliminary report will be issued soon. Although there are prominent grain men in Calgary who view the threatened shortage of seed oats seriously, it is generally admitted that a definite measure of the quantities available can be made until the crops begin to move more freely. It is admitted that many of the tests for oats for germination have given poor results but it is hoped that these samples do not represent the average condition of the crop. The position in many districts is believed to be bad owing to crop damage by the rains.

May Settle In West

Countess Karoly, Hungarian Noble—woman is Banned From U.S.

Montreal—Countess Karoly, wife of Hungary's war-time prime minister, who is now in Montreal, will not visit or even attempt to enter the United States, she told newspapermen here.

The countess has dropped her suit now pending in the United States courts against the department of state, asking cause why a visa to enter was denied her.

"Secretary of State Kellogg has said that he does not want me or mine. We shall never go where we're not wanted," said the countess.

Countess Karoly left for Ottawa to interview Government authorities in connection with farms in Western Canada. It is believed that the Karolys will settle in one of Canada's three prairie provinces.

Committee Struggling With Locarno Treaty

Problem is Delicate and Little Progress Being Made

London.—The legal committee of the Imperial conference headed by Hon. Ernest Lapointe is still struggling with the Locarno treaty, trying to draft a memorandum on the subject for future guidance in such cases, but apparently has made little progress because of the delicacy of the problem and the failing among the delegates to agree upon the exact wording of the memorandum.

It can be taken for granted, however, that as a result of the delegates' deliberations, the British government will be in a minority in its support of any future treaty like Locarno although they feel that the result of getting Germany into the League justifies the treaty entirely.

TO ENCOURAGE IMMIGRATION OF FARM WORKERS

London.—When the new agreement between the Canadian and British governments and the Atlantic transportation companies for the continuance of the £2 ($14.50) fare for emigrants from Great Britain to Canada is finally concluded it is not likely that any radical extensions will be made in the classification of the emigrants coming under its provisions.

The existing agreement which will expire at the end of this year is limited roughly to bona fide intending farm workers and domestic servants. It is understood representations have been made that Canada should extend the scope of the agreement to include certain classes of industrial workers, but it is unlikely such a course will be followed.

The position taken by Canada's representative here, it is understood, is that an extension of the agreement to include industrial workers would probably result in the migration of such workers beyond the Dominion's power of absorption.

While the precise terms of the new agreement are unlikely to vary much from the existing agreement with regard to classifications, it is hoped additional arrangements will be made under which the migration of intending farm workers will be encouraged.

The British Government has training funds for intending farm workers. These funds take most of the responsibility of preparing them for farm work. The original course of six months has been found too long and expensive for the handling of any considerable number of men and has been reduced to four months.

It is expected by this and other modifications in the training course that the migration of bona fide intending farm workers to Canada will be stimulated.

Canada's Death Rate Falling

People Living Longer Because Statistical Information Is Available

Ottawa—Canada is fighting disease with figures. Experts say they are winning, that the death rate among infants from cancer and tuberculosis is below gradually reduced. The Dominion now has a uniform system of vital statistics.

Until quite recently each province had a different system. New Brunswick had no system at all and no vital statistics were compiled except by the cities of St. John, Moncton and Fredericton. In Quebec the records were kept by the churches. Roman Catholic and Protestant. This had been the method for 300 years, and the civil authorities were loath to meddle. Quebec has now joined the other provinces, and will have the best statistics in Canada.

People are living longer because statistical information is available, which shows the doctors precisely what they have to combat. Mr. Coates, Dominion statistician, assisted in this department by E. S. MacEachern, superintendent of vital statistics, and W. H. Topley, who recently made a trip by courtesy of the health sections of the League of Nations, to Geneva, Berlin, The Hague, Paris and British cities for the purpose of studying the collection of vital statistics in those centres.

Rock Slide Causes Alarm

Prince Rupert, B.C.—The enormous rock crest of Glacier Mountain near Alice Arm in the Portion Canal district, recently became dislodged and crashed down the mountain side, making the people in the territory think an earthquake had occurred, according to word received here. The shock could be felt for miles around and caused dishes to fall from shelves in a number of cabins.

Wants to Share With Britain

London.—It is reported here that Italy had demanded a share in the Russian oil monopoly sought by British finance in return for a loan to the Soviet government. Italy proposes to share in the loan and also in the reciprocal benefits obtained from Russia, or else issue an additional loan and take the monopoly on Russian oil sales to the world trade outside the British empire.

Incredible Value.

Reports from all provinces indicate that the Family Herald and Weekly Star at the price of $1 a year, is sweeping the country.

At the price of $1 a year, this big weekly journal is the marvel of the newspaper world. Notwithstanding the reduction in price (from $2 to $1) every big feature of this great newspaper has been faithfully maintained, and the publishers are ever watchful for opportunities to make improvements.

When one takes into consideration the huge volume, wide variety and high quality of the reading matter in every issue of the Family Herald, the question uppermost in the reader's mind is, "how can it be produced at the price?" It is a combination of a complete farm journal, family magazine and weekly newspaper—at a cost of less than TWO CENTS weekly.

Winter is rapidly approaching. For this coming winter's reading there is no better combination than your own local paper and the Family Herald and Weekly Star. Subscriptions may be left at The Sun Office.

The New Immigration in Canada

1.—Sturdy Scotch family, recent arrivals in Canada on the C.P. liner "Montasen".

2.—An excellent type of settler for the Canadian west.

the spring of 1926 was essentially a new immigration. In explanation he goes on to say:

"The years since the war have served to bring out a virtually new aspect of the matter, as actually for the first time, immigration became a public question, receiving attention in the press and discussions from the people of Canada and was realized to be of first national moment. Immigration to Canada in the years before the war had been roughly compared to a broad stream pouring into the Dominion and spreading out uncontrolled in all directions."

"The war ended, and a great popular influx from Europe was expected for Canada. It never took place, largely because the trend was disarranged by the entry of Australia and New Zealand. Australia, then regarded immigration as a possible fresh problem instead of an economic need." His article continues, "People arrived, which in expectation of a heavy post-war movement, had organized a colonization department, most kindly appreciated by the Canadian government. This period, states that the era of Canadian immigration opened up in taking a different view of immigration. The days of surging flow had passed, probably never to return in the same manner, and in its place an haphazard infiltration was hardly desirable."

Mr. Chicaneat then describes the great immigration work being carried out by scores of immigration societies in Canada which came into existence after the war, and the efforts of these Canadian people in immigration. As the result of supervision through these many societies the type of immigration to Canada in 1926 was greatly improved. "With the various channels beginning to act," continues Mr. Chicaneat, "each providing its particular service to the Canadian railway—equally solicitous as to keeping these people in the Dominion after arrival—directed attention to the west and the prairies, where interest in turning the new popular interest in immigration to practical account. People educated now alone by the name good, and also by a pride in their own locality and a desire to see it prosper and expand, had merely to have the most pointed natural sympathy for the new, which might take practical form."

Large Gold Shipment Arrives In Canada

Destination of Million Dollars in Sovereigns Not Known

Gold specie, in sovereigns amounting to nearly a million dollars, has arrived in Montreal aboard the steamship Metagama.

By a peculiar coincidence this shipment reached Montreal one year ago to a day, after the arrival of a similar type of cargo aboard the steamship Montcalm.

In this voyage the Metagama brought out forty boxes of gold coin, the amount of which is not exactly known. Judging from the contents of those boxes brought here last year on the Montcalm, each of which contained 5,000 sovereigns, it is assumed that the forty boxes on the Metagama contained £20,000.

Beyond the information that the specie was consigned to the Canadian Pacific Express Company, no further enlightenment could be thrown on its final destination.

“I know that Mr. John will have nothing to say about the likes of you paying his rooms a visit whenever you want.”

“But that is what you must help me about,” Joanna announced. “I don’t want him to know that I have been here. You must make a little plot with me not to tell him. If John’s not there, I know I may trust you.”

As to this the landlady was not at all sure. Her watery, shrewd eyes narrowed a little and appraised the face of the girl who, plainly, wasn’t John’s girl” any more.

“Well, now,” she temporized, “as to that, Miss, I’ll have to say nothing. A man’s house is his castle like I used to say in the old days when I was ingénue for Raymond Hitchcock who, I must say, had his pick of ingenues and knew how to do the picking. Of course, that was only his dramatic operetta; it was a secret even Hitchcock could’t put over if I wasn’t there to feed him right, but still that’s why it is, you know.”

Joanna had listened patiently. “But it will be all right,” she protested. “John and I haven’t any secrets—you see, I’m still John’s girl; and always will be, no matter what happens, although he has another notion just now. This must be a secret from him, your secret and mine, and it’s just something I want that he mustn’t know about for a little while.” She gave the landlady the full benefit of a smile and a pleading from deep brown eyes that were irresistible. Grudgingly the woman gave in, shrugging her angular shoulders and agreed that if, “that way it is, I guess it’ll be all right. I don’t think you’ll find any love letters from other girls. Mr. John’s not that way with girls.”

Joanna opened her handbag and added to the bills which already crumpled in the landlady’s hand, left there by the chauffeur, a much larger one. Then she tripped up the stairs to the door through which John had delighted, in the past, occasionally to disappear.

When she crossed the threshold she faltered. For an instant Joanna, narrow, girl of mystery and money, was “Miss Twenty-seven” again, violating all the conventions of a more particular age, and stealing in with John, to cuddle up on his frayed sofa and listen while he built wonderful structures that reached to the sky as surely as ever did a castle that grew up in Spain. On most of those nights she would have preferred to be out dancing. They were, in a way, her sacrifices. She’d told him, once, that if he’d put his drawing board away and use the big room to practice up on his fox trot he’d make a bigger hit with her.

Joanna brushed this reminiscence away with the back of her hand, passing it petulantly across her forehead. She crossed the room to a huge chest of drawers in which John kept his papers, great sheets of blue print, plans, and tracings.

She well knew the contents of those drawers. Joanna plucked her gray gloved fingers straight from a sheaf of papers in a middle drawer. When she brought them out they brought also a big blue square on which there were lines and diagrams in a confusion that many times had wearied her eyes. There were other sheets that were similarly marred, as if they were duplicates on which infinite alterations had been made. Joanna had chosen one of them, seemingly at random, and appeared to be satisfied.

Ruthlessly, careless of her deadly affront to the smoothness of an architect’s drawing she folded the blue print into a minute square and thrust it, crumpled, into her bag. Then she turned back to the door.

Just for a moment she stopped and dropped into a corner of the sofa. She pulled her legs under her and curled up. She patted a place in a cushion and rested her elbow in it and propped her head on her hand. And as if she were talking to someone who sat of stone in front of the drawing board behind the window she murmured softly:

“John dear, you’re such a tiresome old thing! I can’t get rid of that stuff straight in my head at all. Why don’t you come over and tell me how much you think you love me?”

When she had said this out into the empty room she got up from the sofa and went swiftly out, closing the door behind her softly.

The landlady hovered about in the hall. Joanna nodded to her and said, “I found what I wanted. It’ll be all right—some day. Remember your promise—it’ll be a secret between us—that I have him. John, will never know what I look like.” When her car drew up at the skyscraper Brandon was waiting. He climbed in beside her, paid his compliments, and the cabriolet sped toward the Avenue. Brandon caught one of her hands and gave it a gentle pressure.

“Do you know,” he said, “you were very nice to me, last night. I was beginning to be afraid that you would never decide to accept me as one of your necessary evils.”

“And you think I have made up my mind that you are not to be baffled,” she challenged him. “Perhaps I have.”

At any rate, I’m not going to be afraid of you, but that doesn’t mean that I don’t know that I ought to be.” But just now I am not thinking of you, but of Mr. Eggleston. I want him to like me, and I wonder why he has asked me to see him.” She was not watching either. “I was not watching either, I’m afraid. I’m forced to face it, rather I’m afraid. I think that most anyone wants to admit you will, will it? May be that even your banker will lose his heart to you. Have you decided, too, upon that?”

“No,” she said, very seriously as if they were considering the matter deeply. “I would never want an old man to lose his heart to me. The kind who do are always silly and wicked. And Mr. Eggleston isn’t that sort. I’m dreadfully frightened of him, or of the man he knows, who gave me the money and why, but when I sit before him I feel as if there was something between us, something that isn’t money. I don’t know how to describe it, but it’s something that makes me want to be liked by him and trusted. He doesn’t seem like a banker at all.”

I think all the things people have heard said about him, his being hard and cruel and merciless, are untrue.”

“Yet I know how to save a man to suicide by reducing him to a pile of his paltry dollars to save him from bankruptcy. And I’ve seen one picture a woman who came to see him to ask a concession from the bank that would have saved her from the contempt of her husband. I’ve known great institutions to fall overnight because he wouldn’t lift his hand to save them.”

“Yea,” Joanna agreed. “He would do that. Just as Mr. Good Morning, the buyer in the store, sent a pretty girl to prison for stealing a pair of baby’s silk socks. We girls at the counter took up a collection to pay her fine, when we heard there was really a baby the socks were intended for, but when we told Mr. Good Morning about it he snapped our heads off and threatened to fire everyone of us if we dared such a thing. ### "The Floral Route to the West"

Gardens and Fountain at C.P.R. Station, Kenora, Ont.

The task of beautifying the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway across the Dominion is increasing to a great extent each year. The importance of horticultural work in all its branches has been realized and according to plans, recently formulated by the Floral Committee of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal, the work will be carried on until there are 1500 parks and station gardens have been constructed along the lines. "The Floral Route to the West" is the name by which the Company's gardens system is known. Years ago John Cawelti, a young man from the old country, one of the first stations to be officially opened on the C.P.R. after taking over the Toronto and Bruce Railway. His love of flowers prompted him to plant a little garden at his station. From this sprouted a three fold idea, while most of the time he was engaged in his work.

One of the problems with which the Floral Committee have to contend is the great difference in climatic conditions of the sections through which the lines run. It has been found that the feverfew will grow in sections like Lake Louise and Banff, the last two being famous mountain resort is known the world over. On the route from North Bay to Fort William the country is very rugged and the winters severe. Here it has been found that the pansy plant, which is blanched is most suited to the climate. Thousands of these plants have been set out along the lines in this section each year. Red Rambler Rose have taken a prominent place of late as they bloom all summer and require little attention. In fact, a careful study of climatic and soil conditions is being made by the Floral Department of the Canadian Pacific. The interest in the work taken by the employees of the Company is manifested in the beauty of the gardens at the stations on the lines across the Dominion. The beauty of many C.P.R. stations have been an inspiration to many townspeople to beautify and improve the appearance of their homes.

Each year cash prizes are given to the station masters producing the best results, which has a stimulating effect on each station. However, it is not always the finest gardens that are awarded the prizes. Mr. Pidgeon, in judging them, such as the form of layout, quality of the soil and the quantity of personal labor involved in obtaining the results.
